CARNEGIE SCIENCE CENTER ENTERTAINS KIDS WHILE PARENTS HAVE A NIGHT OUT

PARENTS’ NIGHT OUT OFFERS AN EVENING OF SCIENTIFIC FUN FOR KIDS AGES 6-12

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29, 2012— Parents’ Night Out at Carnegie Science Center simplifies date night for parents seeking a safe and entertaining location where their kids can spend the evening. The next Parents’ Night Out is slated for Saturday, Sept. 8.

Parents can register their kids (ages 6-12) in advance for an evening of science fun, featuring pizza, a movie at the Rangos Omnimax Theater, and a science workshop. Plus, kids also have a chance to explore four floors of interactive exhibits.

The drop-off time is 5 pm and pick up is at 10 pm (or 11 pm for just $10 more). The cost per child is $35 for members of Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh, and $40 for non-members.

Parents’ Night Out continues through the end of the year on the second Saturday of each month. Future dates are Oct. 13, Nov. 10, and Dec. 8.

To register, call 412.237.1637. For more details, visit CarnegieScienceCenter.org.

About Carnegie Science Center
Carnegie Science Center brings the world of science alive for visitors of all ages. One of the four Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh, the Science Center features hands-on exhibits, three live demonstration theaters, a four-story Omnimax theater, Highmark SportsWorks®, an interactive full-dome digital planetarium, a Cold War-era submarine moored on Pittsburgh’s Ohio River, the world’s largest and most comprehensive robotics exhibition, and a world-renowned model railroad display. Carnegie Science Center is located at One Allegheny Avenue on Pittsburgh’s North Shore next to Heinz Field. Visit CarnegieScienceCenter.org, or call 412.237.3400 for more information.

About Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh
Founded by Andrew Carnegie in 1895, Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh is a collection of four distinctive museums dedicated to exploration through art and science: Carnegie Museum of Art, Carnegie Museum of Natural History, Carnegie Science Center, and The Andy Warhol Museum. Annually, the museums reach more than 1.2 million people through exhibitions, educational programs, outreach activities, and special events.
